1 Introduction

Lambeth Palace Library is rarely the best place to start local history research. We suggest that you first explore the resources offered by the local studies library and/or record office for the county or town in which you are interested. Basic sources which should be available locally include:

The Victoria County History. Founded in 1899, the V.C.H. aimed to produce an historical encyclopaedia of England, by county, hundred and parish. The project is still ongoing: (www.victoriacountyhistory.ac.uk)

The Survey of London is an ongoing project begun in 1894 and now undertaken by English Heritage (www.english-heritage.org.uk). It is a detailed and well-illustrated reference work on urban and architectural history, published in the form of area studies of individual parishes.

J.P. Anderson, The Book of British Topography: a Classified Catalogue of the Topographical Works in the British Museum relating to Great Britain and Ireland (London, 1881; reprinted 1976).

Royal Historical Society, Texts and Calendars, E.L.C. Mullins (2 vols.) Gives full titles of publications of local and national local history societies to 1982.

N.B.L.Pevsner, Buildings of England series

C.R.J. Currie and C.P. Lewis eds., English County Histories: a Guide, (1994)

The Vision of Britain website (www.visionofbritain.org.uk/index.jsp) and the GENUKI website: (www.genuki.org.uk) might also be of interest.

This guide was compiled referring specifically to the historic collections of Lambeth Palace Library. Please note that the collections of the former Church of England Record Centre, now held at Lambeth Palace Library, also contain significant series relevant to local history. For further information, please try searching the online archives catalogue, or contact the Library for advice.

2 How this Guide is Arranged

To help you find the sources of greatest value to your research, this guide has been arranged by county (England only) or country (Wales, Scotland and Ireland).

The emphasis of the guide is on material which might be overlooked. It will not contain all material held by Lambeth Palace Library relating to the county in question. For further information about specific sources consult the collections section of our website. As most of our material dates from before county boundary changes in 1974, old county names have been used throughout, with place names and county based on Bartholomew's Gazetteer 9th edn. (Edinburgh, n.d.).

See also the place name search on the online archives catalogue.
